Land at Appithorne, Minsterworth, Gloucestershire

LOCATION

The site is located to the northern edge of the village of Minsterworth, to the north of the A48, a primary transport corridor that links Gloucester to the Forest of Dean. The site is situated approximately 4 miles to west of the city of Gloucester which provides an extensive range of services and amenities including a national railway service with trains running to London Paddington in under 2 hours.

DESCRIPTION

The site comprises approximately 0.99 acres of grazing land adjoining the large detached dwelling named 'Appithorne', situated to the north of the village of Minsterworth and adjacent to an area of linear development along the main road (A48).

The topography of the land, which is laid to grass, is generally flat and delineated by hedgerows and mature trees. The eastern boundary hedgerow runs parallel with the A48, where a new vehicular access is proposed.

The masterplan for the proposed scheme allows for a low density scheme of 5no. detached dwellings.

PLANNING

The site benefits from Reserved Matters approval for the erection of 5no. detached units, with all dwellings to be served off a single internal roadway through the boundary hedge.

The local planning authority is Tewkesbury Borough Council.
